Rosy's Legacy

Rosy, widowed at a young age, faced difficult challenges. With the stigma of being a widow, and without money or medicine, she was left to care for her three young children and aging mother-in-law.

Rosy partnered with a donor through Save A Family Plan. She worked as a day-wage labourer, cultivated rice, wove baskets, and raised livestock. She provided her children with food, education, and hope.

Fast forward many years: Rosy's daughter, Mary, is an adult and works in finance. Imagine her surprise when she discovered that her employer, Save A Family Plan India, is the very organization that worked with her mother decades ago! Her success today is her mother's ongoing legacy.
